

Catching Up

Workmen are about one week behind schedule, but a spokesman for the J. R. Seal Construction Co., Jefferson City, said the crews should catch up and have the new grandstand ready for use by State Fair time. Above, workmen pour one of the 35 to 40 buckets of concrete needed to fill this giant support form. After the concrete sets, giant, high-quality steel tension cables running inside of the entire lengths of the support are tightened, making the unit a post-stressed support. The same principle is used throughout the structure. (Democrat-Capitol Photo)

Tentative Agreement On Wages Reached in Strike

WASHINGTON (AP)—A tentative contract agreement providing an increase of 6.5 per cent a year in wages and fringe benefits was announced today in the nationwide strike of some 200,000 telephone workers.

The three-year contract, a pattern for all 600,000 Bell Telephone System Workers, totals

19.58 per cent in higher wages and other benefits over the life of the contract. It will cost the Bell System more than $2 billion, said President Joseph A. Beirne of the AFL-CIO Communications Workers of America.

Beirne said the strike, the first nationwide telephone walkout in 21 years, could end early next week after ratification by the strikers. In wages alone, the agreement will give the highest-paid telephone installers $34 more per week by the third year of the contract.

Installers now average $130.80 for a 40-hour week. The top scale rate for installers was not immediately available. For highest paid plant craftsmen who now make $167.50 a week, the wage increase will be $24 weekly in the third year of the contract.

Merit Scholarship For Kathy Rages

Kathy Rages, daughter of Charles L. Rages, Jr., Rte. 2, and he late Mrs. Virginia Rages, and a senior at Smith-Cotton High School, has been named to receive a Federal Postal Employees Association Merit Scholarship.

The announcement by the

The scholarship is a 4-year sponsored scholarship, renewable yearly. The amount is not named, but the scholarship is a form of educational insurance with the amount received adjusted to fit circumstances.

Over 2,800 winners were chosen from among 14,000 finalists. All scored in the top half of one per cent of graduating high school seniors in their states on the Merit test, and met other requirements.

The three-year increases for telephone operators who now make $102 per week will total $16 a week.

The contract agreement also includes improved vacations, holidays and holiday pay, overtime pay, pensions, wage progression, medical and life insurance, Beirne said.

Beirne said the contract also disposes of local issues which for a time had threatened to prolong the 15-day old strike indefinitely.

Talks on Ship Are Not Acceptable, North Says

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — A spokesman for the North Vietnamese Embassy in Vientiane today rejected the proposal to hold preliminary peace talks with the United States aboard an Indonesian cruiser in the Gulf of Tonkin. The United States had accepted the proposal, but North Vietnamese rejection was expected in Washington.

Terming the ship board talks "unacceptable" to the Hanoi government the North Vietnamese spokesman said the proposal by the Indonesian government "does not meet a single one of President Johnson's own conditions for preliminary contacts."

"It shows that the four conditions set by Johnson are merely a pretext for avoiding preliminary contacts," he asserted. "The United States is looking for one pretext after another because it wants to continue the war."

Recalling Johnson's demand for a neutral site for the talks, the spokesman said "Indonesia is not neutral," an indication that Hanoi considers the Jakarta government pro-Western since President Sukarno's ouster.

"Furthermore, contacts held on a ship would exclude representatives of other countries and of the press and would not permit what President Johnson called 'adequate communications' — conditions set by Johnson himself," the spokesman added.

Israelis Hold Military Parade

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israel celebrated 20 years of nationhood today with a parade of its military hardware—bought from the West and captured from the Arabs—that enraged the Arab world. It ran straight through the captured Arab section of Jerusalem.

Protest demonstrations were under way in several Arab capitals. In Lebanon, some 10,000 persons demonstrated against Israel's defiance of a U.N. Security Council resolution calling for cancellation of the parade because it would hurt chances for a Middle East peace.

The parade route skirted the old walled city, starting in a newer Arab quarter and passing into a Jewish sector.

Moving with clock-like precision, every unit of the Israeli land, sea and air force quick-stepped along the route. Huge clouds of dust covered the area near the main reviewing stand at the start of the parade when tanks and armored vehicles clanged by.

Much of the material consisted of Soviet-made armor, artillery and missile-bearing equipment captured from the Arabs. There were also a number of American built 155mm artillery pieces.

The 75-minute-long parade concluded exactly on schedule, and apparently without a hitch. Arabs who had shuttered their apartments at first, later opened their windows and crowded on to balconies in the newer section to watch the marchers and aerial show. Braving sweltering heat, thousands of joyous Israelis and foreign visitors lined every foot of the five-mile parade route through the once-divided city.

Soldiers and police stood guard all along the route, keeping a watchful lookout for trouble from clandestine Arab groups that ordered a boycott of the parade. Visitors were checked at roadblocks on all roads leading into the city.

Along with an impressive show of their own weaponry the Israelis paraded Soviet tanks, self-propelled artillery, surface-to-air missiles, and other equipment captured from the Arabs in the six-day war last June.

Approval Is Received For Expenditures of $24,000

The State Fair Community College has received approval from the State Department of Education to purchase about $24,000 worth in instructional supplies and equipment for a Secretarial Science program.

Fred Davis, college president, said the college will be repaid 50 per cent of the total cost from funds made available through the provisions of various federal vocational act.

The program is to begin this fall, when the college opens for its first term. Actually, two parts of the program will be initiated. One part is a one-year certificate program in Secretarial Science. This program is directed to high school graduates who have had some experience in business and office work but who feel they need more experience before they enter the career field. Emphasis on this part of the program will be skill and speed in the various operations of a modern office.

The other program to be offered is a two-year course in Secretarial Science, leading to an Associate of Arts degree in this field. The first of this program will be initiated this year, along with the one-year program.

Equipment to be purchased with the $24,000 authorization will include 25 V-shaped desks 40 chairs, 20 IBM electric typewriters, three IBM executive typewriters, dictaphones, transcribing machines and other related equipment, an adding machine, photo copying machine, tabulator and stands for the equipment.

High school students who are interested in enrolling in the programs should contact the State Fair Community College, Sedalia, Mo.

Life Underwriters Group Votes for Scholarship

The Central Missouri Association of Life Underwriters today became the first organization voting to grant a scholarship for some deserving student to attend the State Fair Community College in Sedalia.

At an association meeting Wednesday, the grant of a one-year scholarship was approved. Details will be worked out and announced later.

Roy Maddux, association president, said a committee will be appointed from members of the four-county association to set up the specifications for the scholarship.

Fred Davis, college president, said that other organizations have indicated they will offer similar scholarships, but again details have not been worked out and official approval has not yet been given.

Negroes Dedicate Memorial to King

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Nearly 1,000 Negroes gathered today in the courtyard of the motel where Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. was slain for dedication of a marble stone in his memory.

Several hundred were to leave shortly after the ceremony in a bus caravan to Marks, Miss., in the first movement of the Poor People's Campaign envisioned by King.

A bright sun was shining and temperatures were climbing toward the 80s as the ceremony began for dedication of the marble stone which bore a cross and a star.

King's widow and the Rev. Ralph D. Abernathy, the man who succeeded King as head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, took part in dedication of the stone, to be placed on the second floor balcony of the Lorraine Motel where King was standing when killed by a sniper April 4.

Then Abernathy leads the first contingent of the Poor People's Campaign on a twisting two-mile route through some of Memphis' worst slums to buses chartered for the trip to Marks.

Both Mrs. King and Abernathy addressed a kickoff rally of about 8,000 Wednesday night and pleaded for a large turnout for both the dedication and the trip to Marks, the town termed by King as the nation's worst rural poverty area.

A brief outbreak of violence flared in Marks Wednesday when about 20 Mississippi highway patrolmen used rifle butts to break up a demonstration by Negro high school pupils outside the Quitman County jail.

Deputy Jack Harrison said about 350 students had started a sit-in to protest the arrest of Willie Bolden, an advance organizer for SCLC.

By the time the trouble had subsided, seven of the SCLC organizers were in jail.

The memorial stone, a 4-foot-by-44-inch slab of white marble weighing 250 pounds, is on a pedestal for the ceremony.

Below a star and cross were King's name, birth date, date of death and his title in SCLC. Then was engraved this inscription from the 37th chapter of Genesis:

Artillery and Mortar Fire Ousts US Marines

SAIGON (AP) — The Vietnam war's heaviest sustained fighting since the communist command's Tet offensive in February raged through the fourth day today in the northeast corner of South Vietnam. Allied forces reported 1,139 enemy killed in continued battles near Hue and Dong Ha.

In savage fighting two miles northeast of Dong Ha, a North Vietnamese counterattack today repulsed Leathernecks assaulting an enemy bunker complex.

U.S. headquarters said the North Vietnamese hit the advancing Marine column with heavy artillery and mortar fire.

"The enemy launched a strong counterattack causing the friendly units to lose ground," headquarters said. At last report, more air strikes were being called in on the enemy positions.

Court Not Obligated To Pay

Attorney General Norman H. Anderson said a county is not obligated to pay the medical bills of an indigent defendant who is injured during the commission of a crime.

Anderson issued the opinion in response to inquiry by Richard J. Blanck, Prosecuting Attorney of Cooper County.

Anderson said that the county court does have authority to make payment of hospital bills of poor defendants but the payment cannot be taxed as costs in the criminal case.

He said Missouri law gives the county court discretionary authority to pay medical bills of an indigent defendant. He emphasized, however, that these payments cannot be taxed as costs in the criminal action against that defendant.

Mrs. Callis Is Chairman Of Cancer Crusade

William P. McCune, president of the Pettis County Cancer Society, has announced the appointment of Mrs. James Callis, Route 2, Sedalia, as the 1968 Cancer Crusade chairman for Pettis County.

The drive is expected to be the largest ever undertaken against the second most fatal disease in the United States. The rural drive is already under way under the direction of McCune, and Mrs. Callis is recruiting a task force of volunteers for special duty during the house-to-house phase of the annual crusade for Sedalia.

"Tell your neighbor!" will emphasize personal responsibility in the prevention and control of cancer, McCune said. "Half of all who develop cancer could be saved through earlier detection and prompt treatment, yet only one in three is actually saved," McCune said.

A new leaflet, entitled "Know Cancer's Warning Signals" will be distributed during the Cancer Control Month Crusade.

Boeing May Review Plans For Supersonic Airplane

NEW YORK (AP) — Design and construction problems that have delayed completion of the American supersonic airliner one year to the spring of 1972 are resulting now in a complete review of the program by the Boeing Co., the builder.

In an interview here, H.W. Withington, Boeing vice president and manager of its supersonic transport branch, said a slight chance exists that even the basic design of the plane could be changed before the end of the year.

Included in the new design studies is a concept developed by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration for an even thinner, needle-like, "idealized" design that would have fixed rather than movable wings.

Withington added, however, that weight and jet engine noise problems were among the major considerations of the study and that considerations of a change in the over-all concept are mostly for insurance.

The Boeing studies began before last February, when the company requested and received a year's delay from the government in its contract to produce two prototype SSTs. In February, he said, "we were about to cut metal. The drawings were about to be released to the shop. It was a critical point."

With perhaps billions of dollars resting on the decision, and with Russia, France and England already well ahead with their commercial supersonics, the Boeing team, which prides itself on being dominated by engineers, decided to seek the delay.

"There was a gap greater than it should be" between the design and the performance desired, Withington said. Influencing the decision was the fact that a study team already was on the verge of solving some of the design problems.

"It was far better to get corrections made before cutting the metal," Withington said. "added costs now could mean savings later in the program."

Withington explained "the weight was going up and this comes out of the payloads the plane can carry." An attempt now is being made to lighten the craft without a loss in safety.

Engine noise also presented a frustrating problem. "We understand the theory of how to make noise reductions in jet engines," Withington said. "We can make the hardware. But the hardware burns up."

The main effort in noise reduction now will be to "break up the thrust without destroying its impact," to produce a high frequency noise that will be dissipated sooner than the typical, low frequency wave now emitted.

Noise has long plagued designers of the supersonics, particularly the sonic boom made as the plane exceeds the speed of sound. As a result, Boeing now claims it foresees use of the SST only on overwater routes.

This claim is disbelieved by some antisonic boom groups which note that Boeing isn't likely to settle for 500 sales by 1990, which might be the case if the craft were used only over water, when the potential exists for 1,200 sales if overland use is permitted.

The engine noise remains a big problem, however, and is so serious that Withington terms it "our principal research program."

Ike Making Good Recovery From Attack

MARCH AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower is reported making excellent recovery from his third heart attack since 1955.

"The general's progress to this point has been very encouraging," medical authorities said Wednesday.

The seizure appeared less severe than those in 1965 and 1966, the experts said, adding that there have been no complications since the retired five-star general was flown here by helicopter from his winter home in Palm Desert, Calif., on Monday.

He was reported to have spent a comfortable day Wednesday. His wife Mamie, who is staying at the base hospital, was his only visitor.

Parent-Teacher Council Installs Mrs. Walker

Mrs. Morris Walker, 421 West Sixth, was installed as president of the Parent-Teacher Council for a two-year term at the annual council luncheon held Wednesday, May 1, at Flat Creek Inn.

The installing officer, Mrs. Nathalia Poynter, pointed out that looking through other people's glasses sometimes blurred the view, and that each person should have his own glasses. With the idea she cleverly explained the type of glasses needed for each officer. The president should have rose colored glasses, she said.

Other officers installed were: Mrs. Guy Snyder as first vice-president, whom Mrs. Poynter commented should have bifocals; Mrs. Grant Cox, second vice-president, far-sighted glasses; Mrs. Paul Dey, third vice-president, jewel glasses; Mrs. Darrell Bail, fourth vice-president, and publicity chairman, near-sighted glasses; Mrs. Ed Wherley, secretary, reading glasses; Mrs. Everett Buckner, treasurer, sun glasses; Mrs. Harley Sanford, historian, magnifying glasses.

As she installed each officer Mrs. Claude Lambirth, retiring president, pinned a white carnation corsage on them.

The meeting was opened by Mrs. Lambirth, who gave a welcome, and invocation was given by the Rev. Orval Woolery. The Rev. Marvin Nobles gave the devotional thought on the theme, "Leadership."

The musical program was presented by the Smith-Cotton Madrigal singers under the direction of Mrs. Geraldine Schrader. The group sang several delightful selections.

Each year a worthy student is selected by a committee from the PTA to receive the PTA Council scholarship. This year Mrs. Guy Snyder announced that Cornelia Whitley, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Whitley, 410 North Washington, has been awarded the scholarship. Cornelia will enter Central Missouri State College, Warrensburg. She plans to be an elementary school teacher.

Washington PTA received the gift for first place in the membership contest. The presentation was made by the membership chairman, Mrs. Elnora Green, who explained the points that counted in the contest. Mrs. Giro Landi accepted the gift. Whittier school was second.

The outgoing presidents of each school were introduced and then presented the incoming presidents. Smith-Cotton, Mrs. Paul Dey, incoming president, was presented by Dr. J. W. Bryden; Heber Hunt, Mrs. C. D. Edwards, outgoing vice-president, presented Mrs. Feby Ruth, incoming vice-president, in the absence of the outgoing president, Mrs. R. H. Owings, and the incoming president, Mrs. Elliott Braverman; Horace Mann, Mrs. Glen Cromley stated the new president, Mrs. Charles Hendrickson had to leave; Hubbard, Mrs. Everett Buckner is the outgoing and also the incoming president; the Rev. Orval Woolery presented Mrs. Fred Staley, incoming

Lace Vies With Chiffon

For party-type dresses this year, lace vies with chiffon. Like all current fashions, lace has a young naive look. Either it is slim, short and flounced, or it spreads out from the figure like the shade of a boudoir lamp and is just as fancy. Black is always the smartest but don't neglect pastels. If you're the more daring, drop the lace dress over a body stocking.

Mrs. Morris Walker

president; Mark Twain, Mrs. Charles Siron, new president; Washington school, Mrs. Giro Landi presented Mrs. Dale Gregory; Whittier, Mrs. Oliver Thomas presented the Rev. Marvin Nobles.

The outgoing presidents also introduced the principals of their schools: Earl Finley, Smith-Cotton; Heber Hunt, John T. Thomas; Horace Mann, A. L. Wilson, Hubbard, Mrs. Dorothy Kitchen; Jefferson, Mrs. Imogene Peoples; Washington, John Vogel; Washington, John Hays.

Special guests introduced were: Dr. T. J. Norris, superintendent of schools; P. A. Sillers, director of elementary education; Harry Browder, guidance counselor; and Miss Hazel Lang, Sedalia Democrat-Capital.

Reports were given by Mrs. Fred Staley, secretary; Mrs. Paul Dey, treasurer; Mrs. Elnora Green, school board report; Mrs. Grant Cox, auditing committee.

Mrs. Lambirth announced that the pamphlets on the effects of smoking were mailed out to the upper grades in the elementary schools.

The meeting was a particularly amusing one due to the confusion and embarrassment of some of the incoming presidents who didn't realize they would be asked to introduce their newly-appointed committee chairmen.

Things were even worse when the committee chairmen were requested by one of the presidents to stand and announce the committee they were chairmen of. One announced her committee leaving another with a rather lost feeling for she thought she was chairman of that particular committee and she was. The first one finally remembered what her committee was.

Then came the presentation of the gavel by Mrs. Lambirth to Mrs. Walker. When Mrs. Lambirth arrived at the meeting she found she had forgotten the gavel she was supposed to present, but she wasn't going to let a little thing like that bother her. She had with her a small hammer she had used in placing the decorations, and so, instead of the gavel she made the presentation of the hammer to Mrs. Walker.

Mrs. Lambirth then presented to Mrs. Walker the president's pin. A gift from the council was presented to Mrs. Lambirth.

The table decorations were little maypops of pastel ribbons and rosettes.

Stephens Talks On Future Of Sedalia

Speaking before the Sedalia Lions Club Wednesday noon, James W. Stephens, vice-president of the Missouri Public Service Co. for community services, said "Sedalia's future looks great."

In his talk he referred to the junior college for Benton and Pettis counties saying "you'll have your difficulties, but they will be constructive and before you know it, there will be a wonderful college. This is one of the finest things that can happen to an area or a community."

"The communities must be sold on a junior college and after they have it they will realize what it means not only for education but for encouraging industry to come to the area. Sedalia is fortunate in having an experienced industrial engineer fulltime and a fulltime Chamber of Commerce. Any community that can have both is in an excellent position to go after new industry."

"Sedalia's progress in recent years is noticeable not only at home but throughout the country. The expansion of old industry such as is being done and the arrival of such a new industry as Olin Mathieson catches the eye of other business looking for locations."

"As I was a boy living here and for years later, Sedalia was known as a 'railroad town' but this is no more. The railroad is just another industry which like new industry is appreciated but not depended upon in its entirety."

"The Community Betterment Program is not new, but it enables business to plan. It gives a community, when it is working, a better attitude," Stephens said, and then referred to Warsaw's Better Community Program and the attitude of the populace.

In reference to expansion of industry he pointed out the $45 million program of the Missouri Public Service Co., and the new generating addition to their Sibley plant. He told of the New International Airport in Kansas City which will be using more than twice as much electricity as the City of Sedalia.

"Sedalia has a tremendous future with its highway system, the railroads, and especially Sedalia's location," Stephens said in closing.

William O. "Bill" Hiatt, program chairman, introduced the speaker.

Addison "Ad" Taylor, president, who has been absent for the past several weeks because of an injury suffered in a fall, was back and presiding.

Taylor read a communication from Lions International Expressing sympathy to the Lions and to the family of John Stockard, a member who died recently.

Critical Time Faces US

By JOSEPH R. COYNE
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The behind-the-scenes maneuvering over higher taxes and spending cuts is at that critical stage where a breakthrough—or another bust—could come any time.

Key administration leaders are confident Congress will approve higher taxes in this election year although there are indications they might have to backtrack further on spending before any agreement.

The lines of communication between the administration and Congress are open wide and both sides are talking and listening.

One source said both sides agree taxes should be raised and spending should be cut. The only problem now, he added, is to draft the type of package that can win acceptance from both liberals and conservatives.

Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler has continued his private meetings with Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee. The latest was Tuesday.

Committee Chairman George H. Mahon, D-Tex., said no agreement on spending cuts has yet been reached but, "I'm of the opinion we'll find a solution." He indicated this might take several weeks.

He described the $6 billion in spending cuts already voted by the Senate as "unattainable and unacceptable" and said the slashes proposed by Mills are "deeper than the Committee on Appropriations will accept."

Mills reportedly wants a $5 billion cut and the administration is insisting $4 billion is the maximum it can accept.

The administration reportedly will go along with a 10-4-6 formula—a $10 billion cut in appropriations requested for the next fiscal year, a $4 billion cut in spending and a $6 billion cut in appropriations approved in previous years but still unused.

Fowler expressed hope Tuesday in a talk before the U.S. Chamber of Commerce that action on taxes won't be blocked by squabbling over details and procedures or "marginal differences as to the degree of expenditure reduction required."

One of Fowler's chief arguments in seeking a tax hike is that it would curb inflation.

Fowler hinted the idea of a 10 per cent income tax surcharge might be abandoned in favor of an increase in basic income tax rates, a tactic reportedly favored by some Congress members who have opposed the surcharge.

Cost of Enterprise

Ray Norvall, 11, Minneapolis, a fifth grader at Wenonah Elementary School, ponders over the thought of figuring out how many pennies must be collected to pay the Minnesota sales tax. The class of fourth and fifth graders confessed to being guilty of the crime of failing to collect the tax in their school-supply store. But they're going straight now, filling out forms and sending in their monthly tax collection from 60 cents to $1. In order to pay the taxes the class had to open a checking account and the first check was for 63 cents with a service charge of 75 cents. (UPI)

Missions and the New Look

KARAWA, the Congo (AP) — For many, a missionary is a lonely pauper in funny clothes with a grave look, spouting Bible verse while slapping mosquitoes and dodging spears.

No more... now mostly just the Bible and the mosquitoes are left. And the Bible is, increasingly, taking second place to a blackboard or a stethoscope.

There's Grace Nelson, for example. Hovering around middle age, she jounces around Karawa Mission Station on a motorbike, holding onto her nurse's cap with a free hand. The missionaries at Karawa eat food shipped from Denmark and the United States and one of their chief complaints is the peridy of the community's generator. The children, with their own school, say they'd prefer to stay put though they miss apples and peaches once in a while.

And there's Sam Vinton. He spends half the year in a luxurious villa in Bukavu which he figures he's earned after 40 years of building a school-dispensary-workshop complex in the bush. At 60, he still hasn't carried out his threat of retiring and anyway his son plans to take over the mission.

There are 1,450 Protestants and 5,800 Catholic missionaries in the Congo, doing everything from running a Catholic news service to seeking substitutes for fertilizer. They subsidize more than half of the Congo's teachers and make up one-eighth of the doctors.

Objective observers close to the missions say long years in a single post tend to bring out extremes, making a missionary either very effective or very damaging.

"What are needed now," says Bryon Ediger, whose mission hostel in Kinshasa fills 11,700 beds a year, "are more well trained young people to spend a few years at a specific job and leave. It's the perfect chance to teach by Christian example and do some good."

Ediger, 24, is a Mennonite conscientious objector from Buhler, Kan., here with his wife in lieu of military service.

Many old-timers, like Vinton, say the trick is finding missionaries who will work. "When we first came here," he recalls, "there were plenty ready to do the preaching. We needed people to work."

Missionaries serve for three years and go home, coming back if they want. Their houses, looking mostly mid-western ranch style, are comfortable and well staffed. Most stations have air strips.

Ann Berg of Oakland, Calif., in the Congo since 1945, runs the women's program.

"I try to get out as much as possible," she says, "always staying with village families. Once I had trouble sleeping because the rats kept walking over a wire that was strung inside (as a clothesline) and falling onto my mosquito netting. Every few minutes I had to wake up and kick them off."

Score a Small Gain With Vietnamese

By GEORGE MCARTHUR
Associated Press Writer
DONG TAM, Vietnam (AP) — In Vietnam you just don't see a couple of hundred husky men out in the middle of nowhere. But there they were, little white-shirted peasant figures spread out across the dry paddies, all moving intently in the same direction, hastening their steps as the American helicopter swept low.

In his command helicopter, Col. Hank Emerson was exuberant. True, the motley band appeared unarmed but in the delta where Viet Cong arms are hidden in myriad bamboo stands that meant nothing.

"They damn well ought to be in somebody's army," snapped the 42-year-old Vietnam veteran from Milford, Pa., raising bedlam on the command radio channels as he yelled for troops and helicopters.

Gunships quickly flashed in, riding herd like sheepdogs and firing short bursts on the flanks of the men now scurrying for treelines. Sweating GIs began to drop ahead and behind, under orders not to shoot unless fired upon.

By midmorning 113 "detainees" were squatting in the dust outside the barbed wire of a 9th Division camp in the steaming delta.

The detainees gave mainly the same tale. They were fleeing from some kind of expected attack. The very cohesiveness of their replies raised hopes that perhaps the division had bagged a Viet Cong replacement company on the move—an unheard of feat.

Disappointment was quick. Within 24 hours interrogation teams had identified seven of the men as Viet Cong soldiers and 29 as civilian offenders, men with improper papers or dodging the draft or fleeing civil charges. But the remaining 77 were classified as just ordinary civilians, and the chief of their district showed up to vouch for them.

A year ago the 77 men would simply have been turned loose to make their way home as best they could, doubtless embittered by their experience. Nowadays, the Army is more experienced in the complications of Vietnam's twisted war.

Before turning the men loose, Brig. Gen. William Knowlton, the soft-spoken assistant commander of the 9th Division, called in a special South Vietnamese psychological warfare team from nearby My Tho.

Knowlton, 47, of West Springfield, N.H., feels desperately the need to reach South Vietnam's impassive peasantry. That night the psy-war team of five soldier actors and two young girls put on a spirited show of songs and dances. Most popular was a skit in which the country bumpkin outwitted the city slicker Viet Cong for the hand of the maiden.

The show was ostensibly directed solely at the 77 civilians. It was held within sight, however, of the seven bonafide Viet Cong and the 29 assorted civil offenders.

The next day the 77 were placed on trucks and driven home, each given a small package with a toothbrush and soap and a small sum of money.

And so within 48 hours the men were back home. Nobody was quite satisfied, but Knowlton felt that a plus had been gained instead of the minus that previously resulted from most such incidents—which are almost daily occurrences in Vietnam.

Painful Recognition

MONTCLAIR, Calif. (AP) — The smashed car being wheeled into the service station near his home looked familiar to Billy Gault.

Along with some buddies, the 11-year-old moved close to the wreckage and highway patrolmen nearby.

"What's your name, son?" asked patrolman Anthony La Argo.

"Billy Gault," replied Billy. "I think that's my father's car."

Minutes before, the car and a semitrailer truck collided on the freeway, killing Billy J. Gault, 34.

Writers Will Begin Three-Day Meeting

BRANSON, Mo. (AP) — The three-day annual meeting of the Missouri Outdoor Writers Association opens in Branson Friday.

Highlighting the meeting will be a workshop panel Friday night.

The participants will include H. Lang Rogers, publisher of the Joplin Globe; Don Cullimore, Columbia, executive director of the Outdoor Writers Association of America; Elmer Edstrom of Butler, representing writers and broadcasters, and Allan Kennedy, Rogers, Ark., representing public relations executives and the fishing tackle industry.

Principal speakers for the conference are Will W. Davis, executive director of the Missouri Tourism Commission, and Dr. Arthur Mallory, president of Southwest Missouri State College.

Bill Potter, outdoor editor of the Joplin Globe, is president of the state association.

Pleads Guilty To Robbing a Bank

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP) — A Davenport, Iowa, man, Paul West Lutz, 23, pleaded guilty Wednesday to a charge of bank robbery and was sentenced to a 15-year prison term.

Complain About Whistle

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP) — Every night at 9 o'clock for 50 years the Quindaro power plant of the Board of Utilities has sounded its steam whistle.

It began in 1909 when the city put into effect a 9 p.m. curfew for young people that was ignored so long it was finally written off in 1950. But the whistle lingers on, and residents near the plant are complaining.

A typical complaint was that of a young father who wrote

Ralph J. Duvall, utilities manager of production and distribution.

"That one minute blast wakes up my infant son every night," he protested. "Can't you cut it out, or at least reduce the time to 15 seconds?" Duvall said a study of the complaints would be made.

William Sidney Porter wrote under the pen name of O. Henry.

No Humor in Hippieville

The remarkable thing about the hippie phenomenon, the psychedelic movement, the whole youth revolution bit, is the almost total absence of the element of humor.

Anybody who takes himself and his beliefs too deadly seriously all the time, who can't laugh at the mirror occasionally, who is unable to appreciate the essential ridiculousness of the human condition, is just asking for life to give him a hard time.

If he affects beads, beard and sandals as well, he is fair game for the fun-pokers.

The flower children are really blooming bores.

They have discovered God within themselves, they announce with egocentric condescension, but to an outside observer it looks more like a case of mistaken identity caused by "acid" indigestion.

LOVE is what the world needs, they preach joylessly while making themselves as unlovely and unlovable as possible.

Something called Process '67, a conference sponsored by the University Christian Movement, drew 3,000 youthful delegates to Cleveland to discuss what's wrong with the world and how to make it right.

one of the delegates. He looked as if he carried the weight of the entire world on his young shoulders — just below his hair, which hung down to the middle of his eyes.

Also noted in Cleveland was part of a conversation between a hippie couple walking down the street, dressed in the usual scroungy hippie uniform, one of them carrying an expensive-looking piece of luggage:

"I wonder what was wrong with that policeman—stopping us and asking us where we got this suitcase."

There is humor in all these things. And like all true humor, it is but one step this side of tears.

Sure, the tuned-in people, the student powerists, the Movement infrastructure may one day inherit the earth and make everything that's wrong with it right.

But in their intense, single-minded desire to reform society and make us all happy, in their intolerance of the foibles and mistakes of their elders, some of these youths are all too reminiscent of other dedicated humorless world-savers. History remembers them as having brought much sorrow to mankind.

They really ought to learn to laugh a little.

Israel's Turbulent Anniversary

—North Korean Raids—

On Feb. 22 Jack Anderson, writing from Seoul, reported that North Korea was raiding across the 38th parallel. This warning was repeated to President Johnson by President Park of South Korea in Honolulu on April 17. On April 23 the United States issued an official warning to North Korea against its "wanton and provocative attacks" across the Korean truce line.

By DREW PEARSON AND JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — Twenty years ago this week a small band of Jewish refugees formed a country about the size of Massachusetts and fought a war of independence against the Arab world. No one thought they would ever survive. But they moved so fast they almost captured Col. Gamel Abdul Nasser, and the "Tel Aviv" stamp which King Farouk had printed in advance became the laughing stock of the Near East, as did the King himself. He was dethroned.

Despite two additional wars with the Arabs, Israel still stands.

Its anniversary May 2 finds its territory increased, but its problems more complicated. Soviet Russia has poured fresh arms into Egypt and Syria; France has cancelled its previous arms contract and is now selling arms to Iraq, not Israel. And 2,000 Russian instructors have been sent to train Egyptian troops in flying modern MIGs and operating Russian tanks.

Simultaneously part of the Russian fleet has moved from the Black Sea into the Mediterranean, while Russian influence is moving into the vacuum left by the British withdrawal from the Near East. The Soviet is angling for rights to use both the old British base at Aden at the entrance of the Red Sea and the once great British naval base at Malta. It has given a foreign aid grant to the Shah of Iran, hitherto a 100 per cent ally of the United States; has encouraged pilgrimages to Moscow by Turkish leaders; and for a time sent arms to the trouble making island of Cyprus.

The only thing that prevents Russian expansion from joining forces in the Gulf of Persia and the Gulf of Aden with Russian forces in the Mediterranean is the Israeli army which sits astride the Suez Canal. If that army were to withdraw, the first ships to pass through the canal would be the Soviet fleet.

—Goldberg vs. Rostow—

For some time there's been a backstage debate in the State Department and the White House as to how far the United States can go in supporting Israel.

President Johnson, when Senate majority leader, was one of the chief supporters of Israel. But, as President, Johnson has been urged to go slow. His No. 1 adviser, Walt Rostow, born of Jewish parents but who has left the Jewish faith, presented a confidential paper to the President in March pointing out that the United States had no treaty or other commitment to support Israel.

The SEATO pact is one reason he has stuck to the mess he inherited in South Vietnam. He has wanted to support Israel, and has been trying to find some way to get around the roadblock raised by Rostow.

Significantly, Arthur Goldberg, who has supported Israel as a private citizen ever since it became a state, has disagreed with Rostow on almost everything, ranging from the Near East to Southeast Asia. He resigned on the eve of Israel's 20th anniversary, through Israel was not the immediate reason of his resignation.

Goldberg had performed a difficult, courageous job of representing the United States at the U.N. even when he disagreed and even when the thorny Near East question was up for debate. He scrupulously carried out the State Department's directives, maintained good personal relations with Arab diplomats, and Dorothy Goldberg danced with the Egyptian Ambassador just as cordially as she did with any other.

Goldberg had spent more than twenty years working for his government, first during World War II when he organized labor espionage behind Nazi lines, then as Secretary of Labor, then Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, finally as Ambassador to the U.N. He served Johnson just as loyally as he served John F. Kennedy, and his only real difference was over peace in Vietnam. He was one who believed Warsaw could be a site for truce talks.

—Peace is Possible—

The solution for the Arab-Israeli problem in the eyes of both Presidents Johnson and Harry Truman, who originally recognized Israel, is to give the Arabs the benefits of Israeli science, education and industry, while giving the Jews the benefits of Arab water and agriculture.

One way to bring this about would be to call an off-the-record meeting of representatives of the Arab states friendly to the United States to discuss the problem of Soviet penetration. Men such as King Faisal of Saudi Arabia, King Hassan of Morocco, King Hussein of Jordan, King Idris of Libya, President Helou of Lebanon, President Bourguiba of Tunisia, and the Amir of Kuwait, Sheikh Sabah Al-Salim Al-Sabah are just as anxious to stop Communist penetration of the Near East as the United States.

But with the United States bogged down in Southeast Asia, and the U.S. Sixth Fleet now about one-third the size of Russian naval forces in the Black Sea, Near East leaders are worried. This is why the Shah of Iran has taken a trip to Moscow. His foreign aid from the United States has been curtailed, while Soviet aid has been forthcoming for the first time in history. This is also why Turkish leaders, after a century-old rivalry with Russia, have begun to warm up to Moscow.

When peace talks begin with North Vietnam, however, the focus of American attention can be adjusted. Israeli leaders say privately they are ready to cooperate with reasonable Arab leaders and are willing to surrender part of the territory won in the June six-day war in return for recognition and cooperation.

One of President Johnson's greatest ambitions is to launch peace talks for the Near East before he leaves the White House.

Korea Is Guide for U.S. On Viet Peace Talk Site

By BRUCE BISSOT
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)

After our experience in negotiating with the Korea and Chinese Communists at Kaesong in 1951, it has to be a puzzle why President Johnson ever said he would talk with the Vietnamese Reds anywhere, any time.

Of course, he felt himself under pressure from critics of the war to prove his willingness to talk peace. But negotiations with Communists are inherently difficult enough without adding to the handicap by holding them on Red-controlled soil.

Lately there have appeared in print some rather superficial attempts to minimize these difficulties. It is being said that "myths" have distorted the picture of the Korean talks. The truth is, without resort to myth, that they were incredibly tortuous.

In July of 1951, no protracted argument developed over choice of a truce-talk site. Though we recognized certain hazards, we quickly accepted the Red proposal to meet at Kaesong, on the 38th parallel in the Chinese-controlled military zone.

Thereafter we had nothing but Communist-manufactured trouble.

The Reds refused to establish a neutral zone around Kaesong. They tried to get the United Nations delegation to stay each night at the site to enhance the picture they sought to give the world of a U.N. force suing for peace terms from a victorious Red army. They controlled all physical arrangements at the site for the same purpose.

Legions of armed guards, brandishing sub-machine guns, followed U.N. delegates every step they took around Kaesong. Communist newsmen and photographers devoured the scene, seeking maximum propaganda effect from a setting which made us seem like prisoners.

Our chief negotiator, Admiral C. Turner Joy, says in his book on the talks that he was "directly threatened" by a Red guard with a heavy weapon. Once when he dispatched a messenger to Gen. Ridgway, the U.N. commander, the man was turned back by force.

After some days of this, we bridled. We refused to meet further until Western newsmen and photographers, barred up to that time, were admitted to the Kaesong area. The Reds yielded, and even withdrew armed personnel from the immediate talk site.

But Peking and Pyongyang were not finished with trying. On Aug. 4, nearly a month after talks had begun, the entire U.N. delegation had its path temporarily blocked by heavily armed Chinese as it proceeded to the teahouse where the two sides met.

The gesture was a direct violation of an earlier agreement. Ridgway broke off talks. The Reds waited five days before humbling themselves and returning to the teahouse. The pressure of our continuing general military effort brought them back.

After that, the Reds gave up trying to dominate the truce scene and took a new tack—portraying us as guilty of brutal military acts around Kaesong to sabotage the talks ourselves.

First they charged that U.N. troops attacked a Chinese "security patrol" in the neutral zone. Evidence indicated their own partisans, out of uniform, had deliberately killed a Red leader.

At midnight, Aug. 22, U.N. delegates were summoned to Kaesong to hear charges and see "evidence" that our aircraft had intentionally bombed the site in an attempt to wipe out the Red delegation.

Offered in proof as "part of a napalm bomb" was an oily piece of twisted metal which we knew to be part of a downed aircraft, and a small, unexploded rocket of a kind we had not used for a year. There was no sign of napalm jelly, of explosion, injury or damage.

When we scorned the "evidence," Chinese leaders then and there broke off talks. The Reds, by their choice, resumed general fighting. For 63 days they tried to get us back to Kaesong, but we never returned. Beaten again in the field, they agreed thereafter to negotiate at a more truly neutral site—Panmunjom.

Here is a hand from the early '30s which Fred Karpin calls as beautiful a falsecard as he has ever seen.

Fred does not mention the declarer's name, but it was the late Louis Watson. We know the hand well. At least one of us does. Oswald Jacoby sat North and as usual had bid a trifle too much.

Louis was a great player who always gave the impression of general sleepiness at the table.

West opened the king of spades and continued with the ace. Louis dropped his jack of spades on that second spade lead. He did it so carelessly that West did not pause to ask himself, "What is Louis up to?"

If declarer had done so he would have deliberately led his deuce of spades. East would have ruffed that and cashed his ace of clubs to set the contract, but West just continued with the 10 of spades. East was convinced that Louis was going to ruff that third spade and East dropped his three of clubs.

West had to lead again and selected a diamond. Louis was in with the king and at first glance it appears that Louis would still have to lose a trick.

A second glance shows that he did not have to. Louis simply ran off all his trumps and discarded four clubs from dummy. This left dummy with the ace-queen-seven of diamonds while Louis held the king-eight of clubs and nine of diamonds.

East couldn't keep the ace of clubs and three diamonds so a squeeze had materialized and the false-card was properly rewarded.

Haphazard System Of Nominations

By JOHN BECKLER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — It would be hard to design a more haphazard, inefficient system than that by which the United States nominates its presidential candidates. It would also be hard to find one better suited to the national temper in this election year.

At a time of national uncertainty, a hovering between war and peace, a groping for answers to racial, urban and economic problems, the system is keeping the political situation fluid.

It permits Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York to become a full-fledged candidate for the Republican nomination and score at least a psychologically important victory in Massachusetts little more than a month after he declared himself out of the race.

It permits Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey to go from noncandidate to strong contender in the Democratic contest without having faced a rival in a single primary.

It permits Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., to turn a quixotic one-man crusade into a full-fledged campaign; and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., to avoid casting the first stone and then come into the fray swinging.

Ever since George Washington became unavailable for another presidential term the nation has experimented with a variety of methods for nominating presidential candidates.

Having settled in 1832 on the national party convention as the best way to make the final choice, it has been tinkering ever since with the method of choosing delegates to the conventions and giving the voters a large role in the nominating process.

The reform movement in the early 20th Century that replaced boss-dominated state nominating conventions with direct primaries appeared for a time to be leading toward a universal system — perhaps even the direct national primary which Woodrow Wilson, among others, advocated. By 1916, 24 states were holding presidential primaries, but that was the highwater mark. In 1964 only 16 states let the voters help pick the candidates. This year it's down to 13.

Most states still use conventions, some use both conventions and primaries. It is hard to find even two states that follow identical procedures. In addition, the states act over a time span beginning in March and extending right up to the national conventions.

This, then, is the American way of political life for a candidate and it is bound to impose its peculiar logic on him.

Certainly, it was the opportunity offered by the New Hampshire and Wisconsin primaries to get at least a tentative reading on voter attitudes toward the Vietnam war and President Johnson that led McCarthy to act.

McCarthy's success brought in Kennedy and forced Johnson to declare a hand he may well have preferred to conceal for a while. And the fact that not enough states hold presidential primaries to give any candidate a lock on the nomination let Humphrey and Rockefeller make their belated moves.

Like a Rube Goldberg contraption, it works. But you can be sure the tinkering is not over.

Democrat Pickups

The man certainly didn't believe in ghosts or he wouldn't have been taking a short cut through a cemetery on a dark night, but a little more than halfway through something white rose up and fluttered a bit.

It couldn't be a ghost, of course. There isn't any such thing as ghosts, he told himself, as the white object quieted down, but a few steps farther, it raised up again to its full big size and the sweat on this very cold night, popped out on the man.

There was no use to turn around and run in the other direction. If it was a ghost it would chase him, so he bravely walked on toward the gate, that seemed miles away, and closer and closer to the ghost.

As if just teasing him, it would raise up and flutter around, then it would settle down again. Finally he reached the gate which was only a short distance from the ghost. With his heart in his mouth he dared to take a look as he prepared to dart through. The thing raised up and fluttered again, and this time it looked a little different, it was flat and he got a good look at it. It wasn't a ghost after all, it was a wind-blown huge piece of paper that had been on some flowers at a recent funeral.

Except for the fact that it didn't say "Boo!" to him, it might as well have been a ghost. He was just as scared as if it had been. When he arrived home he dropped down in a chair, looking about as white as the ghost, and sweating like it was a hundred in the shade.

"What on earth is the matter?" asked his wife. "I was just scared by a ghost!" he told her which sounded pretty silly until he got his breath enough to explain what had happened. H. L.

Looking Backward

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Pettis county and Sedalia can well hold up their chins and look Uncle Sam in the face and say, "We Did It," because C. L. Hanley, chairman of the County Second War Bond drive, announced that the quota of $488,000 was more than met. Saturday's report was $510,442 and is expecting to reach $540,000 when other township chairmen are heard from.

FORTY YEARS AGO

The LaMonte bank, twelve miles west of Sedalia was robbed of approximately $1,000 in a daring robbery at 9:30 in the morning. Within three hours, three bandits had been captured north of Knob Noster and placed in the Warrensburg jail. In the bank at the time of the robbery were President C. E. Terry; Cashier Foy Wade; Assistant Cashier, J. E. Wheeler and F. M. Crowder, a farmer. Forrest Winston and Willa Mae Dill, employed at the post office, entered the bank while the robbery was underway.

—1928—

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Yeater, 624 West Seventh street, arrived home from a trip around the world and are being cordially welcomed by their friends. Mr. Yeater was formerly acting governor general of the Philippines.

NINETY YEARS AGO

The undersigned subscribers to the capital stock of the Sedalia and Warsaw Narrow Gauge Railroad respectfully requested the Board of Directors of said road to call a meeting of the citizens of Sedalia, at an early date, and make known the present status of said enterprise: E. ## Letters to the Editor

BILL DUGAN (1968 Scout-O-Rama Chairman)—The 1968 Scout-O-Rama far exceeded all previous ones, both in participation and enthusiasm. The success of this annual event for Scouting in the Twin Forks District is due to the willing and active involvement of so many persons.

On behalf of the Lake of the Ozarks Council and myself, I wish to extend to you or your organization and all the others my appreciation for the efforts on a job well done.

QUEEN CITY CHAPTER NO. 47 O.E.S. SEDALIA (Marie T. Wright, W.M., Dr. A. R. Maddox, W. P., Myrtle Griggs, General Chairman, Christina D. Richards, Sec'y.) — We wish this thank you note could tell you the things we shall never be able to say. We wish it could tell you how kind you and others have been in furnishing the school, the wardrobe consultants, the latest fashions in clothing for men and women, accessories, shoes, wigs, furniture, publicity, the intercom, the Combo, the models, and the vocalists.

We wish that somehow we could thank you enough for the joy all of you have brought to the citizens and the paraphernalia committee who sponsored the style revue. Our deep appreciation for your cooperation.

SEDALIA JUNIOR CHAMBER OF COMMERCE (Nevin Alquist and Gene Lowe Co-Chairmen, Jaycee TV Auction) — The Jaycee TV Auction committee would like to express sincere thanks for the cooperation given to us during this year's Jaycee TV Benefit Auction. Certainly the articles and promotion donated to our organization played a large role in making this year's Auction a success.

This combined community effort raised $3800.00 for the Children's Therapy Center to help them in their comprehensive rehabilitation program.

Again, we thank you sincerely for your cooperation and guidance and we look forward to working with you again next year to make the 1969 Sedalia Jaycee TV Auction bigger and better than ever.

Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I just finished the column in which you staunchly defend the medical profession. The reader cites a number of instances involving members of her own family where doctors gooted and you very politely tell her that no human is infallible and that, unfortunately, when a physician makes a mistake somebody becomes terribly ill or dies. This is advice?

I am enclosing in my letter to you a clipping from the London Sunday Times. It reports one of the most interesting errors of all time. A surgeon in Birmingham, England, amputated the wrong leg. I agree with you, Ann, that no human is infallible and I can understand certain kinds of "mistakes" but this is ridiculous. Have you the courage and decency to print my letter? I shall watch the paper with great interest.

Dear Jose: Thank you for your letter and for the clipping. Outrageous mistake? Unquestionably so. But the comments of the 75-year-old widow who is now legless were far more deserving of notice than the doctor's mistake. She said, "Whoever it was who made the operating error probably saved hundreds of lives before he got to me. I happened to be the unlucky one. But, as I told them at the time, we all make mistakes and I am not going to have one word said against him."

What a sterling example of true charity! That this woman was able not only to forgive, but to defend the man demonstrates mercy in its best sense.

Thank you for sending the clipping. It contained something of value for all of us.

Dear Ann Landers: Do you have anything in your files on blasted horn blasters? I refer to addle-brained mothers who have the car pool for the week and rush around picking up the kids in the neighborhood.

They start to toot the horn the minute they turn the corner even though the kid lives at the end of the block. Am I a grouchy old bag because I resent being honked out of bed at 7:30 a.m.? What about the people that are ill, or work night shifts and don't need to get up until noon? Aren't they entitled to their rest?

The whole thing boils down to decent manners. How can parents expect their children to be polite when they go around behaving in such a rude, inconsiderate fashion? And please don't say these folks should be arrested for disturbing the peace. When should it be up to the law to teach manners? I feel that YOU, Ann Landers, are the gal who can do it. Please try. — HONK WEARY

Dear Honk: You vastly overrate the power of this woman. But here's your letter and my added plea—: Give the later risers a break, girls. Some people don't have to get up at the crack of dawn. Let 'em sleep, will ya'?

Confidential to: The Fence-Sitter: The man has all the qualities of a dog — except loyalty. Give him a Methodist handshake and send him on his way.

Smith-Cotton Trackmen Smash Marshall's Owls

Coach Fred Long's Smith-Cotton Tiger trackmen finished their regular season victoriously against the Marshall Owls Wednesday at Jennie Jaynes Stadium. The Tiger varsity trackmen walked away with 12 firsts out of 16 events for 78 points against Marshall's 54.

Three new Jennie Jaynes Stadium records were smashed Wednesday. Bob Logan, Smith-Cotton, junior, covered the mile in 4:38.2 to beat the record of 4:44.4 of McFadden from Jefferson City in 1956; Ron Keyes, junior from Smith-Cotton, ran the 440-yard dash in 52.9 to beat the old record of 53.3 set by Alonzo Redman of Jefferson City in 1965; Smith-Cotton broke the two-mile relay record to run it in 8:40.9. The team was composed of Frank Doogs, Claude Knight, Paul Klover and Steve Cain.

Smith-Cotton junior varsity took ten firsts out of 15 events for 81½ points while Marshall scored 38½ in their meet.

MU Tigers Have New Wrinkles

COLUMBIA, MO. (Special) — Missouri's football Tigers will feature some new wrinkles when they square off in the annual spring game at 3 p.m. Saturday in Memorial Stadium.

For the first time in recent memory the Black and Gold squads will be evenly divided, pitting the No. 1 offense against the No. 1 defense.

"We want to test the players," Coach Dan Devine says. "This will give us a better idea of evaluating our personnel by matching them one-against-one."

The offensive teams will employ the "I" formation, an attack they've been using all spring, but against the third and fourth unit defenses. Devine plans to make the "I" a basic part of the Missourians' attack in '68.

The quarterback battle should be the focal point of much of the fans' interest. Letterman Garnett Phelps will direct the No. 1 Gold — and junior college transfer Terry McMillan the No. 2 Black. They've been rated evenly all spring, but Phelps may have moved ahead of last Saturday's intra-squad performance.

Phelps will pair with tailback Jon Stagers, right half Steve Kenemore and fullback Ron McBride. "Stagers does everything well, including blocking and faking," Devine says. Kenemore, also the regular punter, is subbing for Henry Brown, out with an injured hand.

McMillan's backfield cohorts will be tailback Greg Cook, slotback Joe Moore and 240-pound fullback Jim Harrison, who is expected to return after being idled with an injured hand.

A jammed neck probably will sideline offensive guard Mike Carroll, while defensive guard Roger Boyd's twisted knee may keep him out. Defensive tackle Rocky Wallace, after slightly spraining his ankle last weekend, should be ready to go; however, he won't handle his usual kickoff chores.

Scouts from Kentucky, Missouri's first opponent, and Army, the first foe to visit Columbia, will be among the spectators. Newspaper and radio starters will select the scrimmage's top performers.

Several former Bengals will be introduced before the contest and a MU pep band will play.

Loses the Ball

An error was charged to Cleveland catcher Duke Sims when he lost the ball after tagging Reggie Jackson of Oakland in the third inning in Cleveland Wednesday. Jackson scored from third on a sacrifice fly to center. Jose Garednal threw a perfect strike to Sims. Indians won 3-1. (UPI)

Top Big Eight Pitchers Are Pair of Sophomores

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The top pitchers in Big Eight baseball are a pair of sophomores — one a converted catcher, the other known as a pitcher from the beginning, although he looks more like a basketball pivotman at 6-foot-6.

Nick Horner of Kansas State, a catcher last spring in freshman ball at K-State, has the best won-lost record at 5-0 and could break the league record of seven conference victories in one season.

Towering Dick Henninger of Missouri leads the Big Eight with an 0.65 earned run average to go with his 3-1 record.

They will be on opposite sides Friday and Saturday at Columbia, Mo., as K-State, 8-3, and Missouri, 6-5, tangle in a crucial three-game set.

Kansas, 2-7, is at Oklahoma State, 7-2; Oklahoma, 6-3, at Colorado, 2-7, and Nebraska, 5-6, at Iowa State, 4-7, in other series.

Horner could break the record by winning one game each series the last three weeks of the season. The only seven-game winners are Dick Peterson of Missouri in 1963, and Jim Wixson of Oklahoma State and Jim Westervelt of Colorado, both in 1961.

Henninger's figure is surpassed only by Keith Weber of Missouri with 0.18 in 1964 and Dennis Musgraves of Mizzou, 0.63 the same year.

Horner, whose ERA is 2.66, said "I thought my spot was catcher until last summer in the Central Illinois Collegiate League. There were two guys ahead of me and I knew if I wanted to play I had better find something else."

Prior to that, Horner pitched only in emergency situations.

Some batting records are in jeopardy from Tom Wheeler and Jack Woolsey of K-State. Wheeler's .465 average is best since Missouri's Don Reilly set the record of .593 in 1960.

Milt Plum Property Of Rams

With 20 hits in 11 games, Wheeler needs 13 in his last 9 games to break the league record of 32 hits. Woolsey has 18 runs batted in and his current pace would shatter the league mark of 29.

Other hitting leaders are Steve Houck of OSU at .407, Danny Thompson of OSU .378, Dick Turner of Oklahoma .364 and Randy Stroupe, Missouri, .350.

Other ERA leaders are Ron Hall of Oklahoma 1.04 and three OSU pitchers — Bill Dobbs 1.35, Mike Camp 1.57 and Bill Maxwell 1.66.

OSU leads in team ERA at 1.80, close to its final 1.53 of last year. The league record is Missouri's fantastic 0.84 in 1964. OSU also leads in team hitting with .291 to K-State's .273, although K-State leads in runs and extra base hits. In fielding, it's K-State, .973 to OSU's .950, and the league record is .964 by Oklahoma two years ago.

Bradley Surprise Is Series

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bradley, the surprise leader in the eastern division, opens a vital three-game series with Cincinnati's defending champions at Peoria in Missouri Valley baseball Friday, while Tulsa's unbeaten western leaders face St. Louis in Tulsa.

Bradley swept a pair at Memphis State a week ago, but Memphis stayed alive by taking the Saturday game 13-4. Meanwhile, Cincy swept three from Louisville.

This left Bradley with a 2-1 league record, Cincy and Memphis State both 3-2, and Louisville 8-3. Memphis State can keep its eastern pennant chances only by sweeping three from Louisville—a doubleheader today and single game Friday.

Both Cincy and Memphis State finish their league seasons this weekend, while Bradley finishes with three at Louisville May 10-11.

Tulsa leads with a 3-0 record in the west and its 18-2 mark for all games is best in the Valley. Wichita moved on Tulsa's heels at 2-1 by winning a series at St. Louis last weekend. Wichita plays at Drake, 0-3, in a three-game set at Des Moines Friday and Saturday. St. Louis is 1-2.

All four western division teams finish their league schedules May 10-11. The divisional champs meet for the Valley crown in a best-of-three series at the site of the eastern champ, probably May 17-18.

DETROIT (AP) — "Four for one is pretty hard to believe," said Milt Plum, Detroit's on-again, off-again, sometimes quarterback who became Los Angeles Rams' property Wednesday.

That was his assessment of the deal that sent him, halfback Tommy Watkins, flanker Pat Studstill and 1969 first-round draft rights from Detroit to Los Angeles.

In exchange, the Lions got the Rams' 1969 third-round draft rights and quarterback Bill Munson, who hasn't been able to bump Roman Gabriel out of the starting job at LA but is expected to help straighten out Detroit's signal-calling shortcomings.

Munson reportedly received a long-term contract with an estimated $365,000 over the period.

The bundle, plus the players and draft rights involved, was a high price, acknowledged Detroit Coach Joe Schmidt, "but I definitely felt that we needed a new quarterback and in my book Munson was the best one available."

Plum, in an interview, suggested Detroit's quarterbacking problems were compounded by Schmidt's system of alternating his quarterbacks from week to week with little advance word on which would start each game.

"If you're going to go with a quarterback, go with him," Plum, 33, advised. "This business of waiting until Sunday before deciding who will start is bad, not just for the quarterbacks, but for the whole team."

"Pick your man and let him play," Plum said, recalling last season, when he and Karl Sweetan, 25, took turns starting for the Lions.

Munson, 26, played out his option and became a free agent Wednesday.

Studstill, 29, says his knee is sound and there is no reason he can't go all-out.

Studstill, 29, has been hampered by leg injuries. Watkins, 31, gained 361 yards on 106 rushes last season.

Sam's Fastball Convinces Some

By HAL BOCK

Associated Press Sports Writer Suddenly, the flame was back. Sam McDowell's fastball and his pace against the Oakland Athletics convinced some people he was going to a fire.

McDowell struck out 16 batters—two short of the nine-inning major league record—and pitched Cleveland to a 3-1 victory over the Athletics Wednesday night.

And he did it with only 119 pitches in two hours, 11 minutes—near record time for McDowell, who usually throws a lot more pitches and takes a lot longer doing it.

"Gentlemen," he marvelled afterwards, "you have just seen the eighth wonder of the world. Only 119 pitches in two hours, 11 minutes. I never thought I'd see the day."

In other American League action Wednesday night, Tommy John struck out 12 and pitched Chicago to a 4-1 victory over Washington, California downed Boston 5-3, Detroit shaded Minnesota 3-2 and Baltimore belted New York 6-1.

McDowell, who has had arm trouble in the past, had no trouble with the Athletics, who managed just three hits. He retired 20 men in a row after yielding an unearned run in the third inning.

Jim "Blue Moon" Odom was doing a pretty fair job of pitching for the A's. He retired the first 15 Cleveland batters but Chico Salmon's sixth inning single broke that spell and McDowell's single drove in the Indians' first run.

Tony Horton and Duke Sims singled in the seventh and Horton scored the tie-breaking run on a passed ball. Then Salmon's second hit brought Sims in.

The White Sox won their third game and John captured his second with a strong effort against the Senators. He shut Washington out on three hits over the first eight innings before yielding a run with two out in the ninth.

By then, Chicago was in con-

Compete In Rifle Pistol Matches

J. C. Girard, of Clarksburg, competed in the 1968 High Power Rifle and Pistol matches held at Arnold, Mo., last Sunday.

During the matches the Army team which entered was short one man and Girard was invited to participate with it. The team ended the day of shooting in second place. He also competed individually in the individual matches.

Girard was a member of a team while in the service which competed in various shoots.

trol with a 4-0 edge—half of it provided by Luis Aparicio's first home run of the season. Frank Bertaina was the loser.

Dave Johnson drove in three runs and Boog Powell two as the Orioles whipped the Yankees on rookie Dave Leonhard's five-hitter. Curt Blefary and Brooks Robinson twice keyed Stottlemire was tagged with the loss.

Roger Repoz delivered two runs with a ninth-inning single giving the Angels their victory over the Red Sox, who dropped their fourth straight. A double steal by Bobby Knoop and Paul Schaal preceded Repoz' hit.

Reliever Jack Hamilton, making his first appearance in Fenway Park since beaming Boston's Tony Conigliaro last August 18, was greeted with a chorus of boos and tagged for a first pitch single by Ken Harrelson that drove in two runs and tied the game in the eighth. He was the winning pitcher though.

Willie Horton's eighth inning sacrifice fly delivered Dick McAuliffe with Detroit's winning run against Minnesota. McAuliffe had snacked a one-out triple before Horton's fly ball.

Jim Northrup socked a two-run homer for the Tigers and Rich Reese and Harmon Killebrew had bases empty shots for the Twins.

Sedalia Divers Hold Crayfish Hunt In Quarry

The Sedalia Divers, Inc., recently held an underwater Crayfish hunt at the old rock quarry northwest of Sedalia. The event was held to acquaint the new members with competition in Scuba diving and to feel at ease underwater in the darkness. Each new member was accompanied underwater with an experienced diver of the club who acted as his team mate.

Duane Kays, 1623 East 12th, received the first place trophy for catching the most Crayfish. Chuck Cover, 2103 South Harrison, won the second place trophy. Two members tied for the third place trophy, Max Cornell, 2405 Margaret, and Rickie Fajen of Warsaw, Mo.

After the event the club members and their families enjoyed a picnic lunch beside the campfire.

Durocher's Cubs Only NL Losers

By RON RAPOPORT

Associated Press Sports Writer Leo Durocher's Chicago Cubs were the only losers in the National League Wednesday night who failed to carry the fight at least into the ninth inning and you can imagine how Leo felt about it.

You'll have to imagine, in fact, because Leo isn't talking. After Pittsburgh beat the Cubs 4-0, Durocher barred reporters from the dressing room for the second straight night, waited until the players had dressed and then marched everybody out past the waiting reporters en masse without so much as a "no comment."

He couldn't have had much to say about Pirate pitcher Al McBean, anyway. The right-hander escaped some early-inning problems to shut out the Cubs on just six hits, getting good support from Donn Clendenon and Manny Mota.

Clendenon singled in a run in the first and homered in the seventh. Mota added a couple of runs with a two-run double in the eighth.

McBean gave up five hits and walked two batters in the first three innings, then kept the Cubs hitless until the ninth. Rich Nye prevented the Pirates from scoring after the first inning until Clendenon's homer in the seventh.

Things were considerably tighter in the rest of the league. The New York Mets carried Philadelphia into the 11th inning before bowing 7-2. And Houston battled St. Louis for 12 innings until beaten 3-1.

Both West Coast games went into the ninth inning before they were decided, Cincinnati beating San Francisco 6-5 and Atlanta dispatching Los Angeles 7-3.

In the American League, Cleveland beat Oakland 3-1. California downed Boston 5-3. Detroit edged Minnesota 3-2. Baltimore topped New York 6-1 and Chicago beat Washington 4-1.

Though Durocher wouldn't talk to the writers, he did have a thing or two to say to the umpires. He protested the game, saying Pirate Manager Larry Shepard visited McBean twice in the eighth inning, which is against league rules.

Umpire Shag Crawford said that when catcher Jerry May was slightly injured, Shepard asked for, and received, permission to make the trips to the mound and that it is within an umpire's jurisdiction to allow them.

Tony Taylor's fourth hit of the evening, a bases-loaded triple, brought the Phillies their victory over the Mets as Larry Jackson won his 20th career game over the New Yorkers. Only Don Drysdale, with 21 triumphs, has beaten the Mets more often.

It was another triple, this one by Julian Javier, that broke up the Cardinals-Astros game. Javier's hit drove in Johnny Edwards, who had singled, and gave St. Louis its eighth victory in nine games. Houston has now lost 10 of 12.

Willie Mays hit two home runs for the 57th time in his major-league career, but it was not enough to beat the Reds. Right fielder Dave Marshall dropped Leo Cardenas' fly in the ninth inning and Cardenas went all the way to third. He scored moments later on Mack Jones' sacrifice fly.

Tito Francona drove in the tie-breaking run and Cleto Boyer doubled in two more in the ninth inning for the Braves' victory. The Dodgers tied the score 3-3 in the eighth. Willie Davis tripling in a run. Davis also homered.

Hillcrest Busy Place On Saturday

The Brunswick Hillcrest Bowling Center is to be a busy place Saturday, when 48 local bowlers will take to the lanes in competition to represent Sedalia in the Third Annual Brunswick's "Bowl Your Way to Europe" tournament. Two players, a man and a woman will get a three-day trip to Washington D.C., from Hillcrest.

Joe Lowry, manager of Hillcrest, announced the local roll-offs will get underway at 7 p.m.

In the roll off, each bowler will roll three games across six lanes. The man and woman knocking down the most pins over their average in a single game will be declared the champions and represent Hillcrest in the national finals. In Washington they will be competing against 360 other bowlers from over the nation for a chance at the big prize, an all expense paid trip to Europe.

Lowry also invites the public out to watch the Saturday night competition.

Mildewed Tile Floor Is Worrisome for Her

By POLLY CRAMER

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY—Years ago we added a den to our very nice house and just recently extended this room to make it longer. I had white-and-gold cushion tile put down by the yard. In a matter of a month the floor started to mildew and now it is nearly all black. I am heartsick and the floor man said there was nothing I could put down as the slab is sweating from the bottom up. Surely someone among your many readers will have an answer for me.—EDNA

DEAR POLLY—We have glass doors over our fireplace opening and I always dreaded cleaning them. One day I decided to try oven cleaner on them. The one I used is a foam cleaner that is sprayed on and left for a few minutes. Wipe with paper towels, and what an easy job it is. Before I used this, if I let the doors go for two or three weeks, I often had to use a razor blade to remove the baked-on soot.—MRS. N. T.

DEAR GIRLS—Mrs. C. L. M. wrote concerning Marion's Pointer about curing her child of biting anything and everything by having her bite into a cake of soap. She said that years ago her father was warden in a penitentiary and rebellious prisoners would make themselves sick by chewing soap and then taking water so as to appear to be frothing at the mouth. Once they had serious consequences following such an episode. Washing a child's mouth out with soap has been a punishment for many of us, when children, for telling a lie but a manufacturer of soaps says that because of the many types of soap on the market, it could be harmful if they were EATEN and a child might vomit from eating PURE soap. Perhaps you mothers might substitute the following cure that came from a reader who sent no address.—POLLY

DEAR POLLY—I want to tell Marion another way to cure her child of biting. Whenever the child starts to bite someone or something, try biting them back. I know this works—when I was little I bit another girl because she carrying me and I wanted to walk. She told my father and he bit me back. After that I never bit another person.—DEBBIE (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

Wichita State On Probation

DENVER (AP) — Wichita, Kan., State University of the Missouri Valley Conference has been placed on probation by the National Collegiate Athletic Association for two years ending April 30, 1970.

This was the chief action taken by the NCAA's policy-making council during a three-day meeting ending Wednesday.

The council also certified 16 postseason college football games for next season and cautioned coaches who present regular television programs that a rule against having high school athletes as guests will be rigidly enforced.

The NCAA move against Wichita State came three weeks after the Missouri Valley Conference ruled the university out of postseason grid competition next season and in 1969.

The conference also banned Wichita State from playing in televised NCAA games, with accompanying revenue, for three seasons, starting in 1968.

Earlier, university officials had fired the director of athletics the head football coach and two assistant coaches for what the NCAA council termed "improper inducements to approximately 25 prospective student-athletes."

Assistant executive director of the NCAA, Arthur J. Bergstrom, said at a news conference the Wichita State case "was one of the most widespread and wilful violations ever to come before the council."

He said the organization's penalty "would have been much, much more severe" if it had not been for the "drastic, immediate and effective" action of the university and the conference.

The postseason contests include 12 bowl and four all-star games.

One of these, the Peach Bowl at Atlanta, for which no date has been set, is a new addition to the line-up of year-end attractions. Bergstrom said the sponsor, the Georgia Lighthouse Foundation, is hoping to bring together two major universities.

Rift Between Professionals And Amateurs

LONDON (AP) — The first signs of a rift between professional and amateur tennis threatened today to halt the progress of open tournaments.

American promoter George MacCall was reported planning to pull his 10 stars out of the Kent Championships at Beckenham—one of the open tournaments scheduled to precede Wimbledon.

He said the prize money offered was not big enough and started planning a rival tournament of his own at Eastbourne. Officials of the Kent Championships reacted angrily and complained to the British Lawn Tennis Association. Laurie McCallum, organizer of the tournament, said: "I hope we can still sort out the situation."

The International Lawn Tennis Federation sanctioned open tournaments a month ago and allotted four open events to Britain this year.

The first—the British Hard Court Championships at Bourne mouth last week—was won by Ken Rosewall, one of MacCall's professionals.

MacCall said then he was undecided whether to enter his players in the two events immediately before Wimbledon—the Kent and the London Championships at Queen's Club.

MacCall said today MacCall had now told him his players would not compete at Beckenham because the prize money was too low.

There is a first prize of $1,200 in the men's singles and $720 in the women's.

Player, Nicklaus Mild Favorites In Tournament

HOUSTON (AP) — South African Gary Player and long-ball hitting Jack Nicklaus were mild favorites today as 94 pros and four amateurs began the first round of the $100,000 Champions Invitational Golf Tournament.

Others given good chances of grabbing the $20,000 top money were defending champion Frank Beard and Tom Weiskopf, who leads the 1968 money winners with $77,677.

But nine of the top 10 current money winners will be in competition in the 72-hole tournament over the 7,166-yard par 36-35-71 Cypress Creek layout.

All four of the major championships will be in the field including Bob Goalby (Masters), Nicklaus (U.S. Open), Roberto De Vicenzo (British Open) and Don January (PGA).

Among the top names missing from this year's tournament are Arnold Palmer, Julius Boros, Ben Hogan, Billy Casper and Gay Brewer.

Open AF Fieldhouse

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. (AP) — The Air Force Academy will officially open a new $5.8 million fieldhouse Saturday. It will comprise a 217,500 square foot facility that contains a 6,600 seat basketball arena, a 2,600 seat hockey arena and a football field-sized all-purpose area surrounded by a six-lane track.

Field of 14 Expected In Derby

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A field of 14 3-year-olds were expected to be entered today for Saturday's 94th running of the Kentucky Derby.

One of the colts likely to go postward in the 1 1/4-mile classic, the first jewel in thoroughbred racing's Triple Crown, was Forward Pass.

The Henry Forrest-trained winner of four stakes this year, including the Florida Derby and the Blue Grass, would be Calumet Farm's first Kentucky Derby horse since Tim Tam won in 1958.

Other top candidates included Peter Fuller's Dancer's Image, Cain Hoy Stable's Captain's Rug, October House Farm's Iron Ruler and Mrs. Montgomery Fisher's Proper Proof, who won Tuesday's Derby Trial.

If 14 start, the gross value of the race would be worth $165,000, with $122,600 to the winner. The first money would be exceeded only by the $123,450 won by Needles in 1956.

Post time is 4:38 p.m., EDT. The race will nationally be televised from 4-5 p.m., EDT, by CBS and will be carried on radio from 4:20-4:50 p.m., also by CBS.

With Derby Day growing near, Churchill Downs continued to get ready for the traditional crowd of 100,000 which required about 10,000 employees to handle.

Perhaps the busiest employees will be the bartenders.

For the first time in Derby history if a person wants a drink, he will have to buy it on the premises.

The Churchill Downs board of directors voted last winter to ban bringing alcoholic beverages onto the grounds in an effort to cut down on rowdiness in the infield on Derby Day.

Pornographers Expect Boom

By OLE DICH
Associated Press Writer
COPENHAGEN (AP) — Order up some pornography in Denmark and get trading stamps thrown in.

"Business is business," said one Danish publisher of pornographic material that leaves little to the imagination. "We give trading stamps to our mail order customers."

Pornography is now a $50 million-a-year business in Denmark and it is expected to zoom even higher in June when a law goes into effect easing what once were strict regulations on written pornography.

The porno-producers are aiming for expansion in the export market. Their products already are being printed in many languages.

The man who gives trading stamps has 15,000 mail order customers.

Ninety per cent of these customers are from Germany and 99 per cent of them all are male customers," he said.

He supplies customers with a catalogue from which they can choose a wide variety of magazines, photographs, 8mm movies in black and white or color, slides and books. He also turns out an international circular in which his customers can advertise their secret desires. Women advertise free and the average response is 400 letters per ad.

"If we can sell it, it must be because there is a market for it," said another porno-producer.

Profits in the business are handsome. A magazine that costs the equivalent of 13 cents to produce brings a return of 15 times that much.

Denmark's photographic pornography leaves little to the imagination and garishly outtrials the stuff peddled by back street vendors of former times.

Production is already in full swing. It is not difficult to hire "actors" who are paid about $100 for making a sex film.

"I don't mind the work," said one 19-year-old male model. "It is easy money—and the work is not boring."

"It all started with Eve," said a 21-year-old Copenhagen girl who has starred in several porno movies. "We are just a little more technical." Mornings, she studies languages at Copenhagen University.

"Very few of the girls are dumb," said an old hand at sex movie producing. "Most of them do it for money and a few just for kicks, or because they are exhibitionists."

The home market is slowing down. But private film clubs have appeared. One Copenhagen club carries on the facade of a flashing title in neon lights: "Star Movie Club."

In order to conform with the law governing private clubs, each show is called a membership meeting—there are up to five a day. Membership dues are the equivalent of $5—with a $2 fee per meeting. In return for this, the members solemnly are presented with such movies as "Unexpected Guests," "Teen-age Petting," and "Father and Daughter."

But patrons are not entirely pleased.

Said one member after a late night show: "I'd like to have more plot in the films." Another echoed: "Boy, it gets repetitious." A third: "You've got to leave your imagination at home—you don't need it here."

Danish police keep raiding the producers, the distributors and the film clubs. The next day they reopen.

In spite of the fact that the foreign market appears to be a wide open field, Danes appear to be getting bored.

Said one producer: "I feel that we have reached the limit with the hard line. Pretty soon people will want to go back to the point where the seventh veil isn't dropped."

Mental Examination Ordered for Inmate

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP) — Alonzo Victor King, 25, of St. Louis, charged with stabbing a fellow inmate at the U.S. Medical Center in March, was ordered Wednesday to submit to a mental examination.

U.S. District Judge William R. Collinson issued the order after questioning King.

Earns Her Diploma

LOS LUNAS, N.M. (AP) — Mrs. Manuel R. Sanchez quit school 37 years ago when she was in the 12th grade because of illness.

This spring, she will earn her diploma after several years of night classes, and already has ordered a graduation ring, cap and gown.

Space-Age Law

CÂPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Should a U.N. space agency be created to launch all "spy-in-the-sky" satellites for the United States, Soviet Union and any other nation that gets into the act?

Would the United States be breaking the U.N. space treaty, which prohibits "national appropriation" of the moon, if Apollo astronauts bring lunar rocks back to earth as planned?

Should a group similar to the International Atomic Energy Agency be created to supervise all space activities, acting as a "space court" to settle disputes?

Can a nation legally shoot out of the skies a high-flying reconnaissance aircraft or spy satellite passing over its territory? Or, in other words, how high up does a nation's territorial limit go and where does "free space" begin?

Working through a variety of national and international groups, specialists in space law and from many nations are attempting to settle these and many other provocative questions to head off conflicts before they start.

They are making an effort to project law into space ahead of the mainstream of men and machines.

"More has been accomplished in projecting law in outer space in the last 10 years than all the diplomats in history have accomplished projecting the rule of law on earth," says Harold Berger, Philadelphia attorney and chairman of the Federal Bar Association's Committee on Space Law.

"We already have a space treaty signed by over 60 nations," including the United States and Russia, and approved by the U.N. General Assembly in 1966, he said. More recently another agreement initiated by U.N. members, including Russia and the United States, provides for assistance and safe return of astronauts forced down on foreign territory by space mishaps.

Many legal questions still remain unresolved, however. In interviews conducted during a recent conference on space law at Cape Kennedy, Berger and other specialists in space law discussed problem areas and steps being considered to overcome them.

"There is need for an international organization dealing exclusively with space matters," said Dr. Isidoro Zanotti of Brazil, a member of the Inter-American Bar Association's Space Law Committee.
